Commissioner for Patents,

31 August 2004

On 3 August, 2004, the USPTO mailed a confirmation letter numbered 3357 that affirmed SAW Concepts continuation method patent application "method to enable Heartbeat 911" that is a continuation of 10/708,000 01/30/2004 that is a continuation of 10/605,144 dated 09/11/2003 (method to enable a homeland security heartbeat and method to commercialize structured military messaging respectively). The 3 August letter cites the omission of (several ?) parts – oath / declaration and makes reference to foreign filing license.

The declaration / oath form is enclosed along with the remittance of the $65 dollar processing fee.

The matter of "foreign filing license granted" has proved to be an issue that SAW Concepts cannot resolve on its own given the fact that it does not understand what is meant by the phrase "foreign filing licence" and has not been able to telephonically contact your foreign filing license office given the phone numbers provided when dialed return an error message indicating an improperly forwarded telephone number from 3 August 2004 until today 31 August 2004 where apparently the telephone forwarding situation has been remedied.

SAW Concepts LLC / Steven James McGee # 37952 requests your assistance in this matter and an extension of time lost waiting on the telephonic situation to be remedied. The applicant requests an explanation of what action he should take incontext with the matter of "foreign filing license". This aspect is not understood by the applicant.
